More About Fruits

You read occasionally how one tires of serving the fresh fruit, such as berries, peaches, pears and melons, but if the great number of people could voice their opinion in that regard they would say fresh fruit is always acceptable and only wish the season for each was longer. The everbearing strawberry is one of the fruits that is justly favoredfi for we fruits that it is everbearing strawberry is one of the fruits that is justly favoredif for we all agree that "God might have made a better berry," but he surely never did. For those who do tire of sugared fresh fruit of any kind the following recipes will be helpful.

Peach Delight.—Pare, cut in halves and remove the stones from a dozen ripe peaches, reserving a few of the nits. Boil the pits in half a cupful of nits. Bo pits. Boil the pits in half a cupful of war for 15 minutes and strain. Mix together a half cupful of sugar and a tablespoonful of flour; butter a baking tablespoonful of flour; butter a baking and put in a layer of peaches, and bits of butter; cover with another layer of peaches until all are used; pour over the water in which the pits were boiled and cover with a rich crust and bake. Make several openings for the steam to escape. Serve with cream.

Peach Compote.—Scald two cupfuls of milk in a double boiler and add one-half a cupful of farina gradually, while stirring constantly. When the mixture thickens, add a fourth of a cupful of sugar and a half teaspoonful of salt and cook for 20 minutes, then add the whites of two eggs, beaten, and pour in a buttered dish. Remove the skins from six peaches, put into a saucepan with six tablespoon-sauce over all to serve.

Peach Sauce.—Mix a half à tablespoonful of cornstarch with one ta-blespoonful of water. Add to the peach sirup remaining in the sauce-pan; boil two minutes, then pour slow-

Banana Croquettes.—Use large, is a t firm bananas. Peel them and roll them in lemon juice and let them stand well covered for an hour. Put a cupful of breadcrumbs on a plate, season with salt, paprika and powder-ter and sugar as desired; set the jar or dish in a pan of boiling water and cook in the oven.

Things Worth Trying
There are so many people these days who are using coarse breads that the following recipe may be found useful for variety.

Health Bread.—Take a quart of nice fresh bran, half a pint of graham flour, and the same amount of white flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, all sifted and well mixed together. The coarser parts should be added to the mixture from the sieve. Dissolve half a teaspoonful of soda in a tablespoonful of hot water, then stir it into a cupful (half a pint) of good Orleans molasses, put a pint of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of melted butter and the molasses over the dry mixture and beat thoroughly. Place in pan, giving room to rise and bake for thirty-five minutes.

minutes.

Salad Dressing That Is Different.—
Take a cupful of boiling water and a quarter of a cupful of vinegar and lemon mixed; when boiling hot stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour, rubbed to a paste, with two tablespoonfuls of olive oil. Stir and cook for five minutes then remove and rour over the olive oil. Stir and cook for five minutes, then remove and pour over the well beaten yolks of two eggs, stir and mix thoroughly. Cool, stirring occasionally. When cool add a cupful of olive oil, beginning to add it by tablespoonfuls, beating with an egg beater to blend thoroughly. When it is all added the dressing should be thick and smooth. Mix in a small bowl one-half teaspoonful of salt, the same of mustard and a few dashes of cayenne, add a little of the salad dressing and stir to a paste then mix well in the dressing and put in a covered glass jar. Keep in a cool place. If the oil rises to the top, pour it off and give the dressing a vigorous beating, when it will be smooth again.

Date Torte.—Beat two eggs, add a cupful of sugar and a cupful of finely cut walnut meats, one small cupful of

High Cost of Living
Our old friend and fellow townsman, Frederick Andrews Bush, now at Howell and editor of the Livingston Tidings, it will be remembered was some poet while residing here and many of his productions appeared in the Banner. He is till able to dash off an effusion for his paper under the caption "HCL". This is his latest on the high cost of living: This high cost of living has finally got my goat,

I've heard it talked so much of late I sing it now by note.

There's scarcely anything that's left for poor people to buy,

That hasn't taken the upper route and joined the prices high.

The old army bean, that faithful friend of many years, Has joined the aristocratic ranks and at us only sneers.

Bean soup, that treasure of the past,
Is with us now no more.

You'll scarcely get a bean in soup since they began to soar.

Pineapple sauce and eggs and cheese, and bread and butter too,
Are shooting upwards every day,
What ever shall we do.
There's scarcely any thing we eat, its strange, but true as death,
That hasn't tried sky-rocketing until it lost its breath.

The good old Irish 'tatoes too, our friends through all this life. Have joined the ranks of strikers and added to our strife.

They have passed the high two dollar mark, and with no rain in sight There's not a man on earth can tell just where they're going to light.

And the last blow to kill father, the solar plexus blow,
Was when the good old restaurant prune joined in and had to go.
Yes even prunes are soaring now, no hope seems left for giving,
And where in heaven will it end, this darn high cost of living?

Dry goods, carpets, suits of clothes, and even boots and shoes,
Have got in the procession, wouldn't it give a man the blues.
The H. C. of L. is scandalous now, but what, what shall we do?
If it keeps up its busy work and pulls its program through.

A Fifty-fifty Deal

Tonoline Is Beauty Aid, Today's Poem Announces Specialist

Mildred Louise Talk of Interest to

As health is a first aid to beauty this story, told by Mildred Louise, beauty specilist, of Boston, Mass., is of useful interest.

"I can recommend no better health giver than tonoline," said Mildred

"I was for many months a victim of stomach trouble and nervousness. I had suffered terribly from pains that followed eating. Headaches al-so would add to my worries. Poor digestion finally brought on nervousness.

"Relief came, however, when I took the advice of several women who said,
'Take tonoline.'
